Dear Charles:

When I sent you the LP budget materials in January, you responded by suggesting that we also prepare an income statement and balance sheet, and that we devote effort to new literature.

What I am working towards is a flexible budgeting system allowing weekly cost control performance reports. I am not done with it, but will be happy to provide an illustration of it when complete. I expect that beginning with the FEC quarter starting in April, it will be operational.

The enclosed report to the officers should describe the progress we're making in organization and in improved services. I hope you find it of interest.

Best regards.

In Liberty,

William D. Burt

Dear Bill:

Many thanks for the LP material. I do appreciate receiving items sent out to the National Committee and State Chairs. My suggestions are that you include a balance sheet and income statement with the expense breakdown, and, more importantly, that you regularly and frequently prepare new introductory material and position papers. I gather you plan to begin doing the latter.

Best regards,
