Dear Dale:

This letter will report in two areas and ask your help in a third.

I have received two offers of help and five acknowledgements of other kinds from my letter to 73 Oklahoma Libertarians asking for help organizing a series of receptions around the state for Clark & Koch. I'll be out of town next week but I'll get on the phone after that and try to get a better organization going. My experience so far is that letters don't work very well.

We are going through the files of the Secretary of State of Oklahoma looking for Petroleum based PACs that give money to presidential candidates. Our forms are simply copies of a federal form that all PACs file and there may be suitable pacs which are industry wide but not on file in Oklahoma so it might be worth while to look in the federal files. I plan to stress the fact that free market talk coming from Libertarians reaches a different group of voters than free market talk coming from Republicans. From us it reaches a decriminalizing marijuana, anti draft group that wouldn't listen to the Republicans.

The new stationary looks fine, but if it is for our use in the field, is there provision for a return address other than the Washington address?

The main reason I am writing is that I have the permission of the Oklahoma chairman of the Freemen Institute to enclose a libertarian page in a future mailing to their 700 Oklahoma members. If you are not acquainted with the organization, please look through the literature I have enclosed. It seems and are politically aware.

to me they are a good group for us because they like small government/ I would like help in writing the enclosure. Do we know Mr. Skousen- could we get an endorsement? How can we phrase the letter so they know the Libertarians are the only "constitutionilist" party running?

Sincerely,

Tom
